Our Corporate Social Responsibility

More than any other company, we have a strong sense of responsibility toward future generations by offering them well-designed products with indisputable environmental performance for school, home and office.

Throughout their professional lives, young people will be able to continue using Oxford, Canson and Elba products with the guarantee that we constantly strive to minimise their impact on the environment while honouring our stakeholders' interests and expectations.

To go further than the "green products", we care about all social and environmental issues of our core business in order to continuously offer only products respecting the sustainability principles in order to enable our consumers to use the products they prefer for their greater freedom of choice and expression without compromise their eco-citizenship responsibility.

RETHINK – Environmental efficiency of products

Our L.E.D. Programme : A global ecodesign approach

Our main ambition is to reduce noticeably our products' environmental footprint thanks while preserving our standard of excellence. More than 180 products are eco-designed thanks to our ambitious L.E.D. programme (Leading Eco-Design).

RESPECT – Reliability of environmental communication

Our EcoLabel Code of Conduct : A voluntary demanding auditing process

We support only Ecolabels for finished products that reduce products' environmental footprint during their entire life-cycle. The Hamelin Ecolabel Code Of Conduct for new product development specifies further requirements for the demanding certification of finished products.

REACT – Actions toward Social Responsibility

Our actions to enable artists and young people to fulfil their potential in their educational development

Our corporate responsibility goes beyond our own production plants. We are aware that children and young people are sometimes in need of a helping hand to make their projects become reality. This is why our local distribution offices are committed, along with universities and local associations, to enabling young people to fulfil their potential.

REVEAL – Responsible sourcing

Our Sustainable Paper Supplier Charter

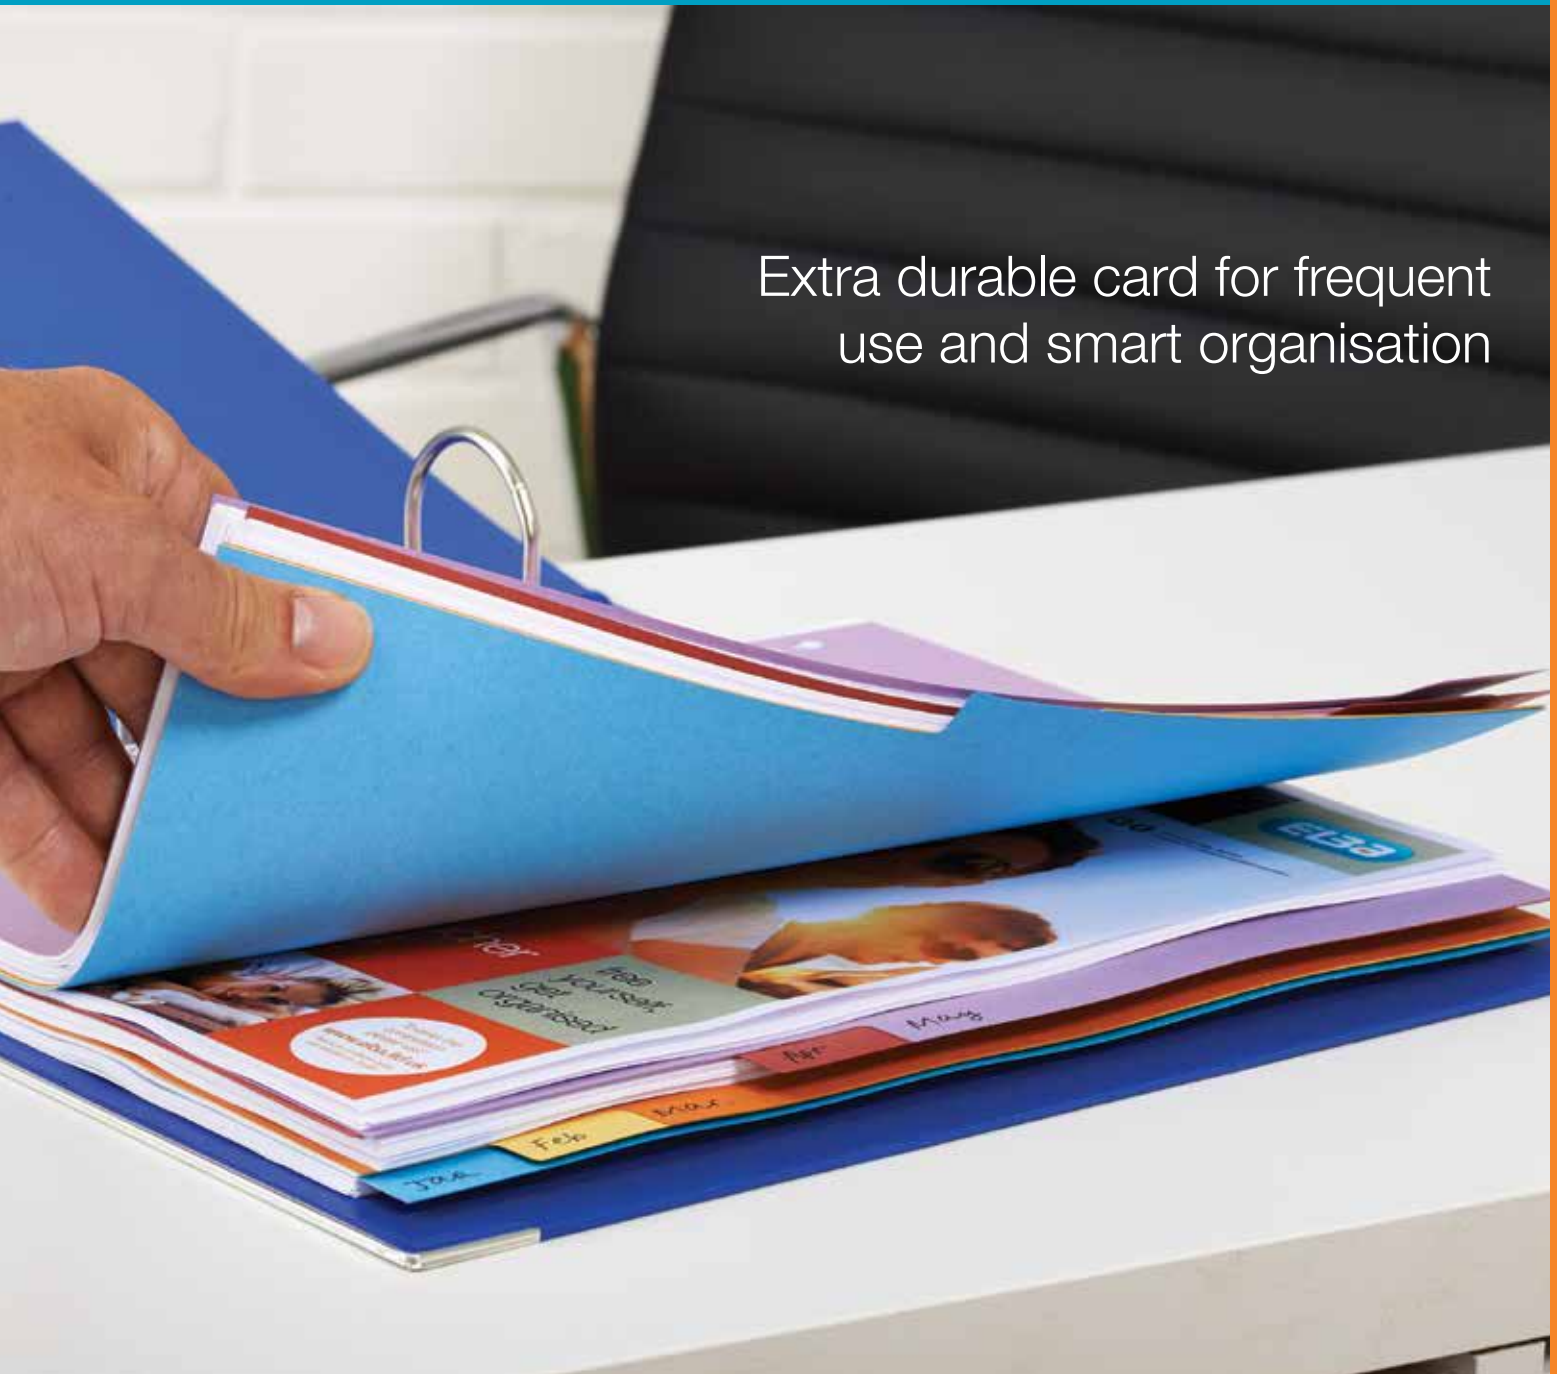

We promote sustainable forest management certification and contribute to the environmental preservation through responsible paper mills, by sourcing ecolabelled paper. Since 2003, Hamelin has been sourcing its raw materials in an ecologically responsible way, by using FSC® or PEFC™ certified paper.
